Peace Briefs Indicate Victory for Newport News

Down in Newport News the people interested in baseball are certain that Secretary John H. Farrell, of the National Association of Arbitration, is going to decide that the Newport News is a part of the Virginia League, formed under the decision of that body rendered after the meeting in Lynchburg, when Richmond, Lynchburg and Danville, opposing the reorganization of the Virginia League, were defeated by the Newport News.

No definite news has been received by W. H. Brundage, owner of the Richmond club, whose advisory counsel, W. H. Bonds, accompanied by the corresponding secretary of the new league, who happens to be a local sporting writer, and therefore unbiased, went to Auburn, N. Y., to see Secretary John H. Farrell, in the interest of Newport News. A telephone conversation last night proved that the local manager, who is interested only because he feels that Newport News has been badly treated, knows nothing of what has been done by the iron man of Auburn. Brundage is purely from a spirit of fair play, he sent his advisory counsel and the secretary of the whole league, to expose the cause of Newport News. He is also of the opinion that the decision cannot in any way invalidate the status of Norfolk and Petersburg, which city will be ousted if Farrell decides as the popular opinion seems to indicate. He doesn't feel that Suffolk, granted protection at the same time Newport News was granted protection, is being badly treated at all. His opinion is that the attitude and of the trouble will be an anti-club league, with Suffolk and Roanoke both admitted.

FLIMFLAM GAME WORKED ON WOMEN

Trouble Starts When Pupils Find Both Their Teachers Gone.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Norfolk, Va., February 20.—What has every appearance of being a new flimflam game by which Norfolk women, many of them recently prominent, were misled of about 100 in three weeks, has come to light. Monday afternoon fifteen or twenty former students of two women, who posed as teachers of the china painting and burning art, came to the police because their quondam teachers had left the city without coming to the office of instruction.

About two weeks ago two well-dressed women opened a studio, professing to teach transfers on china and porcelain. Buying handsome furniture on the part cash, balance in installments, they opened up for business on January 31, and soon attracted a number of students by inserting small advertisements in the newspapers. They promised to teach the "art" of making transfers on china and porcelain free, and then to pay from the students by the dozen pieces all work completed by them in an artistic and suitable manner at scheduled prices in the office of the school.

That proposition to buy the completed pieces of china and porcelain caught the eye of more than one of them had visions of pin money called through the china transforming work, and they applied for enrollment by the scores, each one paying $2 on deposit and then paying the balance in installments.

When the time came for the students to realize on the work completed in an artistic and suitable manner, they were told they had spoiled the transfers and china on which the transfers were made and that the product was worthless.

Saturday the trouble started when a number of students went to the office and found the teachers gone.

New Orleans, February 20.—Gordon Mandot, of this city, was given an unanimous newspaper decision of Pat Moore, of Philadelphia, in a ten-round bout here this afternoon. Mandot was forced to extend himself in the seventh and eighth rounds.

The fifth was about even. Mandot rushed Moore in the sixth, boring in to the stomach. In the seventh Moore came back strong, with terrific body blows and left hooks to the jaw. Moore jabbed Mandot eight times in the stomach in the eighth without a return. Both were aggressive in the ninth.

The tenth brought them together in a clinch. Mandot breaking out, clipping Moore in the stomach and face repeatedly without a return. Mandot was in much the better condition at the end of the fight.

CHEMICAL TARIFF TO PASS TO-DAY

Republican Leader Mann Gets Very Humorous Regarding Soap.

Washington, February 20.—The Democratic chemical tariff revision bill was agreed to in the House to-day, when the committee of the whole concluded work on the measure.

No final vote was taken, but the bill will be passed at the beginning of to-morrow's session. An agreement was reached between Republican Leader Mann and Democratic Leader Underwood to defer the final vote until that time, so as to not interfere with President's Taft reception to-night.

No amendments were put into the bill, although the Republicans offered many amendments. The measure has not been passed since the session began.

The day's debate took a facetious turn when Republican Mann charged that the bill increased the duty on vanilla, and cited the fact that the duty on vanilla beans had been raised on the tariff schedule of 1909. Mann, who had charge of the measure for the Democrats, retorted that ordinary vanilla was derived from cloves and had actually been reduced in the bill.

Mr. Mann made an attack upon the soap section and declared that the Democrats had raised the duty on ingredients of common soaps.

"We cannot expect the Democrats to be interested in soaps," said Mr. Mann. "I consider all soaps unnecessary luxuries."

Representative Harrison replied that "some Republican households need a great deal of soap," and Representative Cullip, of Indiana, and Representative Cullop, of Indiana, insisted that Mr. Mann was fighting for free soap, so that the Republicans can go back and soft soap the people.

The chief attack upon the measure was based upon the Democratic plan of raising the duties on raw materials and lowering the duties on finished articles.

"It is our contention," said Representative Harrison, "that the revenues should be taken out of the large profits of the manufacturer and that this should not be passed on to the consumer in the shape of a raise in prices."

Representative Harrison testified an increase in the duty on lemon juice and lime juice by saying these articles were chiefly used in soda fountain drinks.

BAR CONFEDERATE STATUE

Senator Heyburn's Attack on South Cause, Senate Floor, Feb. 20.

Washington, February 20.—The Senate to-day made effective use of the Stephenson election case to prevent consideration of the bill authorizing the erection of a Confederate monument in the National Military Park, at Vicksburg, Miss.

The bill occupied second place on the Senate business calendar, and Senator Williams, of Mississippi, was prepared to move consideration. Since the sharp tilt of ten days ago between Senators Williams and Heyburn over the measure a number of Senators have been endeavoring to get it to come up again.

The Stephenson case supplied the only available material for obstruction. No Senator desired to speak on it, but the voluminous reports were read in part and their reading occupied almost the entire session, and was not concluded when the Senate adjourned. Senator Williams accepted the situation philosophically.

Mr. Heyburn will call up the Stephenson case to-morrow in the hope of getting a day named for a vote.
